

THE SECURITY RISKS OF

MOBILE DEVICES

Roughly a third of hospitality and retail companies have suffered a "mobile device compromise" during the past year, according to research from Verizon.

A GROWING THREAT

of companies in the hospitality and retail industries fell victim to "a mobile device compromise" in 2018.

of those companies describing the incidents as major.

IN ALL INDUSTRIES SURVEYED

of companies said they were vulnerable to threats via mobile

said they are less confident of security on mobile versus other devices of companies said they were putting resources behind fixing the problem.

WHAT TO WATCH FOR

Companies ranked employees as the most likely bad actors, with 38% saying they are the top threat, followed by 22% worried about "organized criminal groups."

The most cited reason for security threats is personal gain (46%) followed by the possibility of people unintentionally opening themselves up to threat (36%).

LIKELY TARGETS

The functions that are most likely to be compromised include:

Camera or photo album
25%

Contacts
30%

Location data 30%

Calendar
31%

Microphones
39%